Dear Colleague,

The International Programme on Chemical Safety (IPCS) invites you to review the Draft IPCS Framework for Analysing the Relevance of a Cancer Mode of Action for Humans. International peer review is a fundamental feature of the quality assurance for IPCS/WHO documents.

This draft document was prepared by the IPCS Cancer Working Group and an International Workshop, held in Bradford, United Kingdom, in April 2005. Similarly, an international group of experts will consider the comments received and finalize the document.

Please note that the document will be linguistically and technically edited. You need not pay attention to stylistic, grammatical, or typographical defects. However, where an expression is misleading or ambiguous, please draw our attention to it. If you refer to a published article, please provide a copy with your response.

In your reply please identify the page number, paragraph and line number of the text on which you wish to comment. Please use the table template provided for submission of your comments, and send this to us as an email-attachment at vickersc@who.int with a copy to kunzs@who.int. Please contact us if you do not receive an acknowledgement of receipt.

Completion of a WHO "Declaration of interests" form, is a prerequisite for any comments to be considered in the further development of the draft. Please fax your signed declaration to: + 41 22 791 4848.

Your assistance in this work is very much appreciated. We would be most grateful to receive your input not later than Friday 16 September 2005. Comments received after that date unfortunately might not be considered.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely

Ms Carolyn Vickers
